Karaoke Anything! is a utility developed to remove vocals from an MP3 or audio CD track with minimal configuration. In other words, this very easy to use application helps you turn any song into a karaoke utility, as it removes the vocals but keeps instrumentation practically intact. Although it's designed to address such an important issue, Karaoke Anything! is not at all difficult to use and the number one thing that makes it accessible is the interface. All features are grouped inside a single main window that provides instant access to everything, regardless if we are talking about source or the actual vocal removing process. With a clean and well-organized appearance, the application allows you to choose between two different sources, either an MP3 or an audio CD track, so just pick the one you want and use the "Open File" menu entry to provide the path to your source file. It's enough to press the "Play" button to start the process, but you may also have a look at the "Karaoke Effect" adjuster that helps you get a good balance of vocals and instrumentation. The program uses what's being called "the karaoke effect" to remove the vocals and because we're pretty sure that you're wondering whether it works or not, this also depends on your song. Karaoke Anything! works best with songs with the vocalist placed in the center of the stage, so the program may very well fail if vocals are mixed off the center. Plus, it doesn't work at all with mono recordings. All in all, Karaoke Anything! may come in handy to many users out there and since it's so easy to use, it can be safely used by rookies as well.

A major problem with polyurethane and polyurethane-coated materials used in the aerospace industry has been that if the material is exposed to fire, it decomposes into materials which are very toxic, even when the polyurethane decomposes to give products which are less toxic. For example, the main product of the thermal decomposition of polyurethane is CO.sub.2 which is toxic to humans at concentrations of only about 0.1 ppm and above, and to some other species at about 1.0 ppm.
